Verdict of a Prosperous Merchant.

[From the Hatter and Furrier.]

"To discontinue an advertisement," says John Wannaker, one of the largest advertisers in the world, "is like taking down your sign. If you want to do business, you must let the people know it. Standing advertisements, which change frequently, are better and cheaper than reading notices. They look more substantial and business-like, and inspire confidence. I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising."

TO CANCEL A CHARTER.

Petition That Will Probably Break Up a Local Insurance Company.

Yesterday County Attorney Carlock filed a document with the District Clerk which can hardly help but exert a disastrous effect on the Masonic Mutual Benevolent Association of this city, against which this paper was specially directed, being based on a recent opinion of the Attorney-General relative to a certain class of insurance concerns during business in this state. The paper after prefacing that it was in pursuance of an order of District Judge Beckham and at the instance of J. S. Carruthers, all goes in substance the following: That S. M. Farmer as president, J. K. Ashby, secretary, and Henry Swartz, treasurer of the Masonic Mutual Benevolent Association, have since May 1, 1887, and for a long time prior thereto have been acting as a corporation under the "deceptive and pretentious" title above given, without having ever been legally incorporated or chartered. The said institution, according to the petition, is illegal in that it has no capital stock paid in, nor any stockholders as the law directs. It is alleged to do an insurance business with Master Masons and their families and to have 1500 policy holders. To protect innocent parties and to prevent the further spread of the business of the said corporation, which is declared insolvent outside of office, it is requested that a judgment of ouster be granted along with an order cancelling the alleged pretended and illegal charter of the association.

A Chance for the Girls.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

LONGVIEW, TEX., Nov. 8.—I saw a notice in your paper a short time ago where a man had died in your city leaving a large family of children, mostly girls. I wish to know if I can get one of these girls. I will give her a good home and plenty to eat and wear. For reference I give you the names of Mrs. Charlie Booth and Rev. Jimmie Jones and lady of Longview. Please answer and oblige, Mrs. Geo. Plummer, Longview, Tex.

Handsome Entertainment.

Last evening there was a very pleasant gathering at the rooms of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and Benevolent Association on Main street. Some fifteen of the most prominent ministers now attending the conference were present, for whom an elegant supper had been prepared. Mrs. Burdell presided with her usual ease and courtesies. After supper Mrs. Collins explained the objects of the association; following which a hymn was sung and prayer was offered by one of the ministers present. The guests were then shown through the various departments, and all expressed high appreciation of the noble work.

THE EDITOR'S CALLING.

The Editor's Life Not Always a Happy One

Augusta Evening News.

An editor's life is not always a happy one, but he is generally satisfied with it, whatever it is. It is his calling, and if he be a true journalist he is wedded to it for life. He is not a Boomerang, a vagabond, who edits a paper to-day, may be drunk to-morrow, or who preached last year. He does not descend to the depths of personal abuse or slanderous innuendo, although he has to submit to a great deal of this kind of mudslinging in silence. His manhood and gentility will not allow him to go down into the dirt after weapons for such antagonists. He also has to submit to a good deal of misunderstanding and sharp criticism from his own friends. This he stands with utmost good humor and perfect patience.

An editor is no more than a man. He is full of faults and they show in his errors of judgment and his mistakes every day and is every thing but infallible. He is, however, always honest, and when he wounds anybody it is not intentional. He often hurts people's feelings, but frequently they deserve the criticism which causes him to cry out. People ought to reflect that an editor has as much feeling as the rest of humanity.

The thing an editor is not. He is never selfish. He is in the business because he loves it, and nearly always for the benefit of others. A true editor never mixes in politics and never runs for office. That is, he never runs but once. Henry Waterson, the greatest editor in the Union, went to Congress one term and that satisfied him.

OF INTEREST TO DRUMMERS.

Mr. Stockton Hasn't Yet Paid the Tax on Traveling Men.

Last night a GAZETTE man had the pleasure of an interview with Mr. Robert C. Stockton, the gentleman who has signified himself by preferring arrest and a ten-minute's stay in the Tyler jail rather than to give up the $35 which the Texas statutes order collected of every knight of the grip doing business in the state. He is just back from Galveston, where he said the jobbers, as one man, applauded his course, for they think the law unjust, and want to see it beaten. He was taken there Sunday night by the constable of Smith county, and Judge Sabin set the case for trial Wednesday morning. At the time hour named Stockton showed up in the courtroom ready for trial. Judge Sabin, however, announced that he had received a telegram from Attorney General Hogg stating that urgent business called him to Tyler and would keep him all the week; that he regarded the Stockton case as of great importance, and wanted to represent the state in person, therefore he would agree to postpone the trial till the following week. Though under the law the trial could not have been put off later than five days after the appearance of the defendant in court without his consent, Stockton agreed to the wish of the Attorney-General, and so the matter was deferred.

In speaking about it Mr. Stockton said: "We don't want to take any advantage of the state and desire to be treated with equal fairness. My colleagues and myself only want fair play, and believing the law unconstitutional, propose to fight it on that line. The principle is exactly the same as in the case of Robbins vs. the Shelby Taxing District wherein the United States Supreme court decided no later than March of this year that such a tax was illegal and contrary to the constitution. Why if the state can tax drummers for houses outside of Texas $35 a year it could make them pay $3500 and thus prohibit outside men altogether from doing business in Texas."

"I will say for the T. P. A. (Traveler's Protective Association) men, that if we are beat in this trial we will pay the license like little men and never whimper. I want to say a word about the officer who arrested me, Mr. O. Meador; while he did his duty in all respects, he was courteous and kind, and if ever I am in the clutches of the law again, which the facts forbid, I should like to have him for my captor."

THE METHODISTS.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Northwest Texas Conference Outlined.

The second day of conference opened with a considerably increased attendance, as during the preceding night quite a number of members had arrived. Altogether about 150 members, including lay delegates, are now in attendance. The session yesterday was mostly taken up with the formation and announcements of committees and in listening to the annual reports from the various standing committees. The report of the Board of Publication was read and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

The following preachers were elected elders: Charles S. Field, J. W. Sansom, J. W. Hawkins, A. B. Trimble, Albert Smith, A. T. Culbertson, Isaac L. Miller, R. W. Wellborn, and the following local preachers were also elected elders: Stephen Vaughn, J. W. Lane.

The following were elected deacons: J. H. Mars, G. M. Tucker, Thomas E. Ragdale, B. A. Snoddy, S. L. Smith, E. T. Sterling, H. Bascom, and S. H. Naby. A number of visiting members of other Texas conferences were introduced and invited to seats in the meeting.

Rev. J. W. Hildt, regent of the Southwestern University, sent in a report showing that institution to be in a most flourishing condition. It also announced the gift of 700 acres of land to the University by Mrs. Alexander of Belton, Tex. The report was referred to the educational committee. Reports from the Female College at Waco, the Granbury College, Belle Plaine and Centenary Colleges, were also received and referred.

After announcement for committee work and religious services the conference adjourned till the appointed hour on the following day.

In the afternoon Rev. William Vaughn preached an excellent sermon and at night Rev. Boone of the East Texas conference addressed a large congregation in a highly acceptable manner.

To-night the board of church extension will have its regular annual meeting at which addresses will be made by Rev. Dr. Barbee of Nashville and Dr. Briggs of Dallas.

BRIEF MENTION.

The ministers are first-rate parliamentarians and dispatch business in the most approved way.

The public is cordially invited to the services in the afternoon and evening as well as the regular conference sessions. Drs. Barbee and Briggs are of high repute as pulpit orators and they will doubtless have a large audience to-night. Bishop Wilson preaches Sunday, and it is safe to say that more will turn out to hear him than can get seats.

Pardon is asked of Rev. W. H. Le Fevre of Alvarado for the way his name was mislaid yesterday.

The ministers could not ask for prettier weather or warmer hospitality.

The visiting members unite in praise of the new Methodist Episcopal church.

The list of appointments locating the preachers for work in new fields will not be ready before Monday or Tuesday.
